Border Master Plans are binational efforts to prioritize planned port of entry (POE) and related transportation projects in a study area; inform decision-making and the allocation of limited funding; and ensure continued dialogue and coordination on current and future POE and transportation infrastructure needs and projects.

The benefits of Border Master Plans have been recognized by both governments of the United States and Mexico in an official initiatives list entitled U.S.-Mexico Bilateral Action Plan. To remain a viable planning tool, these Plans reflect each region's needs, interests, and priorities. Plans are also updated and amended periodically to keep the contents and inventories current and to continue to represent the region's vision and goals.

Please join us at this event to learn more about the development of the El Paso/Santa Teresa – Chihuahua Border Master Plan and share your input and insight with the study team.
